WORDS OF CAUTION.

In the selection of Laundry Soap you should be governed by your own judgment AFTER and NOT before you have used EMPIRE SOAP COMPANY'S TIN TAG LAUNDRY SOAP.
NOT Purchase Laundry Soap from any Grocer who does not carry Empire Soap Company's Tin Tag Laundry Soap in stock.
BE CAREFUL To observe whether or not the Laundry Soap you Buy has the original Horse-Shoe Tin Tag thereon.
The offer of Tin Tag Laundry Soap at less than manufacturers' prices, or without the Horse Tag, is a very suspicious circumstance.

IRREFUTABLE.

John Kaiser, 1432 Mallinckrodt Street.
To a reporter Mr. Kaiser said: "Shortly after the commencement of the year 1886, I began to feel queer pains in my legs, back and sides. I could not account for them, and thought they would soon wear away. But instead they grew worse, and I was surprised to find my weight increasing rapidly in size.
"My usual weight is about 175 pounds, but it soon increased to 220.
"I went to a doctor who did not say what I was afflicted with, but gave me some medicine and said it would set me all right in a few days.
"I took the medicine as I was told but it seemed to do me no good; my clothes no longer fitted me and I was compelled to
"In fact, I had nothing to wear and my wife had a terrible time to keep up with my growth in making new garments.
"I thought my time had come. Then a young man came to me who had been in a similar fix. He had applied to Dr. McCoy and was cured.
"I could scarcely get down stairs, by a tremendous effort I made my way to Dr. McCoy. He told me I had dropsy, but could not say how soon he could cure me. He gave me some medicine, and the next day I felt greatly improved. On the second day I was a new man.
"The swelling began to disappear rapidly. I continued under the doctor's treatment for about three months, when HE DISCHARGED ME
as cured.
"Now look at me! I'm as stout and jolly as I ever was."

DRUNKENNESS

ON THE LIQUOR HABIT, POSITIVELY
CURED BY ADMINISTERING DR.
HAIR'S GOLDEN SPECIFIC.
It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a permanent cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For Sale by

READY FOR JAIL.

Twelve Members of the House of Delegates Guilty of Misdemeanor.

Delegates Who Have Sworn Falsely to the Oath of Office

And Are Liable to Six Months in Jail or $500 Fines.

Purge the House of Delegates of the Ringsters and Boodlers.

Fox, Pishon, Sullivan, Morrissey, Keenan, Lehman, Coakly, Rolles, Kaye, Stone, O'Neil and Waters.

The Circuit Attorney Says the Court Will Take Action--A Nice Set of Delegates Voting Away Money and Franchise Without Paying Taxes--"Here's a Pretty Mess, Here's a How D's Do."

Drunkness is not the only sin that members of the House of Delegates have committed. It has been charged again and again that there were members of that body who were there for revenue only. It is one thing to say a man is a bribe-taker; it is a very different matter to substantiate the charge in a court of justice. The open corruption of a body like the House of Delegates calls for unqualified denunciation from the mass of good honest citizens.

It calls for the use of every weapon known to legitimate warfare against evil to uproot and exterminate it. The POST-DISPATCH, in an endeavor to find upon what basis the charges of bribery rested, has become thoroughly convinced, morally certain, of the truth of those charges and yet such are the technicalities of the law to shield criminals that upon the information it now possesses it could not take such charges into a criminal court and ask for convictions and sentences on members of that body.

But there is crime enough in that body to cast some of the worst members; that is a matter of record. Open perjury; false oaths. Recorded oaths of offices containing statements that the men in swearing know to be wholly false if they had the intelligence to read or know when they heard the reading of that oath.

Twelve members of the House of Delegates have no more right to sit in that body than have so many Choctaws from Indian Territory. Twelve men who in taking the oath of office to obey the laws of this, their State, and country, to serve the interests of the whole people--the most sacred of obligations--swore to what they knew to be false.

Twelve men who swore that under the statutes, under the charter of the city, they were possessed of all the qualifications to be city legislators and were not possessed of the principal requisite to those positions. Representatives of the people, legislating away the rights of the people, giving to railroad franchises that injured the people, and yet these men were not under the law in the enjoyment of the rights of citizenship; they had had not paid for the support of the municipal or State government, and were without the pale of those who might appropriate the money that other citizens had paid into the treasury.

The city charter under which the members of the House of Delegates took the oath of office to uphold and enforce its provisions provides
Sec. 5. Every member of the House of Delegates shall, before the day of election, have attained the age of at least 25 years, have been a citizen of the United States six and an inhabitant of the city three years, and of the ward which he may be chosen to represent one year, and shall have paid city and State taxes for at least two years next before the day of election.

Sec. 6. In addition to the qualifications in the preceding sections, every member of the municipal assembly shall possess the following: He shall not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city or any department or institution thereof, and shall not be indebted to the state or city on account of any tax. He shall not have been convicted of misdemeanor in office, bribery, or other corrupt practices or crimes. Before any member of the Council or House of Delegates shall take his seat or perform the duties of his office, he shall take and subscribe an oath before the Register (who shall file the same in his office) that he possesses all of the qualifications required in this and the preceding sections, and is not subject to any of the disqualifications therein named, and that he will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State and faithfully discharge the duties of his office. Any member who shall at any time during his term cease to possess any of the qualifications mentioned in this and the preceding sections shall thereby forfeit his office, and the same shall be filled as provided for in cases of other vacancies.

These are sections of article 3 of the charter. If anything in that basis of city government is worth the paper it is written upon, those sections in a clear and unmistakable manner make any person who has not for two years preceding his election paid State and city taxes, who is indebted to the State or city, or who is interested in any municipal contract at the time of his election to the Council or the House of Delegates ineligible to such election. There are no tricks of language in it. Clearly without a loop-hole for escape, it is made obligatory that such indebtedness as might be charged against a citizen for State or city taxes must be paid, and it is also plainly stated that taxes must be paid for two years next preceding the election.

Peter Morrissey, Delegate from the First Ward, does not appear on the Assessor's books of St. Louis for the years 1883, 1884 or 1885. He has not paid a cent of taxes for those years, real or personal, nor had he paid one cent of taxes in the two years next preceding the day of his election. Charles D. Keenan, Delegate from the

SQUABBLING BUTCHERS.

Judge Noonan Gives a Decision in Favor of the Meatshop Men.

The case of Frits Knickel, appealed from the Police Court, was decided by Judge Noonan in the Court of Criminal Correction to-day. This is a test case in the fight between the market butchers and meat-shops, about an ordinance which charges the latter $2 a year license, but exempts the former. In 1889 an ordinance was passed, charging market butchers with a license fee of $2 a year, and meat-shops with a license fee of $1 a year. The ordinance was passed by the City Council, but it is now being contested by the market butchers. The case of Frits Knickel, a market butcher, was appealed from the Police Court to the Court of Criminal Correction. Judge Noonan gave a decision in favor of the meatshop men, ruling that the ordinance was valid and that market butchers must pay the license fee.

BITTEN BY A DOG.

Recovery of the Body of a Drowned Man—Haltway News.

The body of Conrad Siegel, a young man, who was drowned on Sunday last, near the Troy bridge, three miles north of Lebanon, was recovered yesterday afternoon, and Coroner Woods held an inquest. About 8 o'clock last evening a dog belonging to a man named John Koller attacked a 7-year-old girl named Steel as she was passing along Caroline street, threw her to the ground and bit a piece of flesh out of her left arm. Sheriff Ropke has returned to Messrs. Caw & Tarrant the gambling paraphernalia captured in the raid at East St. Louis, they agreeing to pay the expenses of the raid. Superintendent Dappich has refused to accept the bond of Tom Halloran, School Treasurer of East St. Louis, for the reason that it was fraudulent and defective. The children of the kindergarten had a picnic-day at Huff's Garden in the West End. They set out on the new street cars. The Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company, which purchased the decision discharging the works in operation. The works will be ready to start up by September. Mrs. Schwartz, a woman who resides in the West End, was arrested to-day on complaint of John Beck, who charges her with having circulated the false report that had appeared in some of her letters and extracted money from her. The woman is supposed to be insane.

C., July 1.—The Senate Committee on Agriculture this morning, by a strict party vote, determined to report favorably, without amendment, the oleomargarine bill. The friends of the bill claim that it will be made a part of the order of business and taken up next week.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—The House this afternoon, by a vote of 108 to 149, refused to refer the Des Moines bill to the Judiciary Committee. A vote was taken on the passage of the bill over the President's veto; 161 to 99, or less than the necessary two-thirds.

PATTI AND NICOLINI.

GLADSTONE AND TUPPER.

A Story of True Love That Did Not Run Smooth—Hated Turned to Admiration.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

About sixty years ago two prizes were awarded for the best theological essays at the good old English University of Oxford. The first prize was awarded to a bright young man named Tupper and the second went to a youth named Gladstone.

Naturally great things were expected of Tupper. He was ahead in the race and it was thought that young Gladstone would be lucky if he continued to hold the second place. Tupper became a star in the literary firmament. Hundreds of thousands of readers in England and America glorified him and praised his books in the most extravagant terms. Gladstone wrote books, too, but they were merely regarded by Macaulay and other critics and fell flat.

But time works great changes. To-day the name of England's Premier towers of strength. It is as strongly linked with modern scholarship and literature as it is with the statesmanship of the age. In the case of Tupper, however, the reverse is true. He is now a shabby old man, whose chief delight consists in recalling the days of the past, when he was a popular idol and when his books were in every household. To the present generation he is almost unknown. His name's final failure in life is a mystery to him. How did he fall behind in the race? How did his slow competitor pass him? He cannot understand it, but the reason is plain. Tupper's growth continued until he reached old age. Tupper disposed of all his goods when he first opened shop. Gladstone has kept on replenishing his stock. Tupper was only a flash. Gladstone has blazed into an illumination.

A Political Parrot.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

A well-known centenarian has just died in Paris. His name was Lenoir. He was 100 years old. Lenoir was a parrot, and a parrot gifted with really remarkable talent. It was born in the reign of Louis XV. He lived through the French Revolution, the rise and fall of a large number of governments. It has never quitted the house where it first saw the light, having been kept on a perch by the same family for more than a century. The parrot was a capital talker, and knew a number of phrases, which it often brought out very much to the purpose. Since the reign of Charles X. there was a good deal of difficulty in getting the bird to learn anything new. However, a servant with Radical sympathies taught him in a few weeks to say "Vive Gambetta!" This it occasionally varied with "A bas Robespierre!" which it had been accustomed to say during the reign of Terror. The last words of this remarkable bird were, it appears, "Grace pour Marie Antoinette." It is certainly wonderful, under the circumstances, how Lenoir succeeded in escaping the guillotine.

Quite the Lum-Tum.

From a Newport (R. I.) Letter.

White vests are very much the fashion just now, and a collar turned sharply down in front, and Patent leather shoes, trousers 22 inches round the bottom, a four-button cutaway coat of diagonal plaid and black hair, and a pair of trousers included in the outfit of the modern Beau Brummell, not to mention a bamboo stick with a buckhorn head and a pair of patent leather gloves broadly stitched on the back with black. He wears a wide, black silk ribbon with a gold buckle hanging from his coat pocket, half a dozen rings upon his fingers, a scarf-pin worth a small fortune and carries a single eye-glass, which he seldom uses, but which he wears when he is out. Such is the exquisite who has no nothing in the world to do but help to spend his father's millions and marry a girl with as many more. He is ever present at the Casino, on the beach, in his tandem dog-cart on the avenue, at dinner, receptions and balls, and everywhere he is at once the choicest and most remarkable specimen of advanced civilization.
